Vehicle Talk:

There is not a more complete or handsomer stock of vehicles of every description in Kentucky than we are offering for your inspection now. It comprises everything, in the most liberal sense of the word. We wish to call special attention to our stock of DEPOT WAGONS, OPEN WAGONS and STANHOPES. It will pay you to call and inspect them.

Rubber Tires:

In this advanced age no vehicle's is complete without RUBBER TIRES. We have the latest improved machines for putting on the Hartford and Goodyear 2-Wire tire. No more coming off. Riding will be made a comfort to you and your vehicle will last twice as long. Come in and investigate.

Farm Wagons:

All the best makes, such as STUDEBAKER, MITCHELL, OWENSBORO and OLDS.

Farm Implements:

This department is well stocked. You can find everything that the farmer needs in this line. Vulcan Plows, Deering Harvesters, Etc. And we want to call your special attention to the Tornado Disc Harrow; there is no better harrow on the market.

Field Seeds:

You need look no further for anything you need in the seed line. Just tell us what you want and we have it. We have also Seed Sowers of every make.

CAN YOU GUESS.

Here's a Chance to Make Ten Dollars Easy.

All You Have to Do Is to Pick the Winners in the Coming Primary.

Just for the interest attached to a guessing contest and to put a little more interest into the coming campaign for County officers, THE NEWS will give its readers a chance to make ten dollars and have a little fun at guessing on the side.

To the person making the first nearest correct guess of the winners in the Democratic Primary Election which will be held in this county on Saturday, June 1st, 1901, THE NEWS will present a ten dollar gold piece. The conditions of the contest are simple. Old subscribers and new subscribers who pay $2 on their subscriptions will each be entitled to a guess, and to as many guesses as they pay year's subscription. If no one guesses correctly, the first one who guesses the closest to all the winners will receive the ten dollars.

You intend to pay your subscription anyway, and you may a well pay before the first day of June and have a chance of getting your money back, besides gaining the distinction of knowing more about the political situation than your neighbors.

Each guess will be registered when received as to the exact day, hour and minute. No one will be permitted to see how any one else has guessed. In guessing only the offices on the ballot are to be considered.

Let them strike his name
From their Hall of Fame:

Tis naught to his life's great story,

For his memory

Has a destiny

Apart from their gilded glory.

Let them be but two

In their grand review,

Save him that the world will cherish:

With our Washington

And our brave Lincoln,

He lives—all the rest will perish.

And their light will shine

MONTGOMERY

May Not Get Commission for Centerville Postmastership.

[Concord-Journal Special]

WASHINGTON, March 23.—J. C.

Montgomery was appointed Postmaster at Centerville, Bourbon County, on March 6. He has not, however, taken charge of the office, owing to the fact that his commission has not been received. Montgomery was appointed on the recommendation of Senator Deboe

at the request of the Bourbon County Republican Committee. He was to succeed Miss M. E. Boyd, who has been Postmaster for eighteen years, and against whom he is employing social difficulties.

"The people down here employ me," said he, "not because they are ashamed to be seen going into a pawnshop themselves, but because I can get more for the goods than they can. There's an art in pawning a coat or a ring, just the same as in everything else."

"I've known people to go into a pawnshop with some old article to pawn and to look the proprietor over with a suspicious air, as if they considered themselves too far above him

socially that they couldn't touch him with a 40 foot pole naturally, for sheer spite, the broker offers them only about half as much as they would get if they approached him properly. Having had a wide experience of my own,

I know how to avoid such difficulties.

I am not servile, but I am polite and respectful, and as those two qualities touch the most generous chord in the broker's bosom I get all I want on the proffered chattels.

"As recompense for my services I charge my customers 10 per cent commission. I have regular customers, and then, of course, I do many odd jobs for occasionalists. There are families down here for whom I pawn

some things over and over again, one week after the other. On pay day they take their things out of soak. Three days later they put them in again, and the next pay day they take them out again. And so it goes, month after month. I canvass the houses just like a book agent or corn plaster peddler or insurance solicitor.

"Anything to be pawned today?" I ask.

"And if there is I take it around to some shop and raise the necessary dough and take it back and get my commission. Once in awhile I come across somebody who abuses me and makes me a shark, but I'm nothing of the sort. I'm earning a decent living at a legitimate business."

This Court of Appeals decided that it had no jurisdiction in the case of a saloon-keeper fined for selling liquor on Sunday.

Ada Gray, who was probably responsible for more tears than any other woman on the American stage through her interpretation of the dual role in "East Lynne," is dead.

According to the dictionary of the re-organizers, a Democrat is a man who votes the Republican ticket in National campaigns, but is generous enough to allow Democrats to vote for him in a municipal campaign—"The Commoner."

FATIGUADO has been captured, as the result of the daring plot of Brig. Gen. Funston. The prisoner was brought to Manila yesterday morning a prisoner of war on the gunboat Vicksburg. He was taken March 23 at his hiding place in the Province of Isabela, Island of Luzon. His staff was also captured.

Uncas Lies the Head That Wears the Crown.

A Paris cable to the New York Journal says the Nihilist plots have caused consternation. The Czar knows he is doomed and has collapsed physically. He pleads with his Ministers like a child to save him from assassins, whom he sees hiding in every corner.

Killing At Lexington.

John Scanlon, freight conductor on the Chesapeake & Ohio road, was shot to death between 3 and 4 o'clock Tuesday morning near Pine Grove, by John Goodin, the brakeman on the train. Scanlon was shot five times. Goodin jumped from the train, and returning to Lexington, gave himself up.

The train pulled into Mt. Sterling before Scanlon's body was found, the two men being the only ones in the caboose. The authorities took charge of the corpse. Scanlon was about forty-five years old and lived at Lexington.

More Trouble.

Warrants were issued and served Monday, on the charge of selling goods in Maysville without license, on the following representatives of Gifford, Mable & Co., of Chicago: George Davenport, B. F. Schoenber, A. Muhr and Wallace Shelly.

A late dispatch from Maysville says: "The representatives of Gifford, Mable & Co., of Chicago, who were arrested yesterday for selling goods in Maysville without a city license, were dismissed, as there was no proof that they had sold goods in the city, but had continued their operations to the county."

Notice.

The Eighth District (C. W. B. M.) is composed of six counties—Bath, Montgomery, Clark, Bourbon, Harrison and Nicholas. Each of these have county managers or secretaries. The district is presided over by a manager, Mrs. Emma Gibson Shewman. The Annual Convention of this district will convene with the Park Christian Church on Friday, April 5th, morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

A good program is being prepared. All the congregations of Christian Churches in Bourbon County are cordially invited to attend this convention. All persons sending their name to the County Secretary will be provided with hospitable entertainment.

Secretary Wilson, of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, says that the entry list to the Kentucky Futurity of $21,000 for foals of 1901, which closed on Friday of last week will be the largest in the history of the race. Last year, 1,485 were named, and this was the record. This year the indications are that the number will over-reach 1,500.

The bay mare Coquette, 2:15½, has been sent from the Valley Grove Farm, Walker, Mo., to Douglas Thomas, a Paris, who will campaign her this year.

Dan Peed has bought the tobacco crop of Jesse Turney, consisting of 35,000 lbs. at 5 cents. Mr. Peed has received all his warehouse in the last two days 85,000 lbs. of tobacco, for which he paid $5,000.

L. Ashurst sold his crop of hemp, about 38,000 pounds, to Jacobs Cordage Co., Cincinnati, at $6 per 112 pounds, delivered on cars here.

Joseph Howerton sold to same company his crop at same price.

CINCINNATI TOBACCO MARKET receipts have been fairly liberal this week, and offerings considerably increased, giving heavy sales on two days, and the largest aggregate in several weeks. The market has held very firm and the tendency has been upward.

Old Tobacco has comprised a very small portion of the offering, but the little appearing has been readily taken under strong competition. The supply is almost exhausted and the manufacturers all seem anxious to secure as many of the remaining heads as possible. The quality of a great part of the New Tobacco seen this week has been very poor, but the market has held up well. Though there was some irregularity on Wednesday and Thursday, the results were in the main very satisfactory to sellers, and rejections continue light.

The Interior-Journal says: "The unusual sight of lambs nursing a female human can be seen at Capt. B. E. Powell's. The Captain has three sets of lambs that are born, whose pups had been taken from her, became very much attached to and now she plays the role of mother to them to perfection. Capt. Powell also has a couple of lambs that have hair instead of wool on them. These little things look almost as much like pups as they do like lambs."

The Winchester Democrat says: "The lamb crop will be large in Clark County this year, for probably a larger per cent of the crop was never born than has been this season. The larger portion of them have been sold at 5 1/2 cents for later. Most of these sales were made some months ago, as for some reason speculators have not been very anxious to purchase recently."

MILLERSBURG.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Charles Darnell and Mrs. Frank Vimont went to Lexington, Thursday, to attend the burial of Jas. Susieg, who formerly lived here.

Dr. S. H. Creighton, of Indianapolis, was the guest of Mrs. Belle Taylor and family, Wednesday.

Mr. Rawles and bride, of Sharpeburg, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Johnson, Wednesday.

Mr. John Bedford has sold his crop of 18,000 lbs. hemp at $5.75.

Mr. E. C. Cox is still here with his mill. Will leave April 10th and go to Josse Turney's farm, four miles East of Paris, in his logs.

Rev. Rush Hart, of Berry, is the guest of his parents, Dr. Hart and wife.

Miss Dorothy Feed and Mrs. T. M. Purcell visited Mrs. Frank Collier, near Paris, Wednesday.

Mr. Ed Wadell, of Jacksonville, Fla., is the guest of his brothers and sisters here.

Mrs. Lige Allen, a well-known colored woman, died here Tuesday. She was insured in the Sun Life for $120.

Mr. A. P. Allis and Mr. Willy Watson, of Paris, were here Wednesday on business.

Mr. F. A. Jones is again on the sick list.

Dave Gains, colored, bought a house and five acres of land from Wm. Brand, of Paris and Cythiana pike, at $160 per acre, cash.

Dr. Chas. Mathers shipped a car of salt lamb of his own, raising to Cincinnati, Monday.

Fred Auxier was in Cincinnati Monday and Tuesday buying Spring stock of goods. The largest and best selected stock in Central Kentucky.

Mrs. L. B. Conway & Co., extend a special invitation to the ladies of Millersburg to attend their opening in Paris on Wednesday and Thursday, April 3 and 4. Everything that is new, stylish and up-to-date in millinery. New store, new goods. The largest and best selected stock in Central Kentucky.

Misses Adrina Griffith, of Payne's Depot, Emiley Brothers of Owingsville, Dixie Sprake, of Cynthiana, are guests of Miss Leah McClintock, near town.

Mrs. Bertie Caldwell, of Mason, is the guest of Miss Laura Jefferson.

Mrs. G. S. Allen is visiting her sister, Mrs. Payne, at Payne's Depot.

Mrs. Belle Armstrong is visiting her daughter, Miss Mary, at Hamilton College, Lexington.

Elder Gamble, of Smithfield, was the guest of Elder G. W. Natter, Monday.

Those Prather, from near Maysville, has sold his 135 acre farm to Mrs. Wilson for $100 per acre, and will probably buy land near here.

Mrs. Angie Campbell and Mr. Sam'l Wangh, of Carlisle, will marry next week. Both are well known here.

The Christian Church has just received a handsome silver communion service. It was ordered by Mr. R. B. Bolden and is up-to-date, and is much admired.

Dr. Baradine the noted evangelist will open the meeting at the M. E. Church to-night. All are invited.

Don't forget "Charley's Aunt" at the Opera House to-night by the M. E. Congregational Drama Co. Proceeds for the benefit of the town. Doors open at 8 p.m. Admission 25 cents, reserved seats 35 cents. Music by the Paris orchestra.

Mr. John Beck Vimont has an appointment as quaguer for April 4 at Pogue & Co., Mayville.

Ors Bowles enlisted in the Navy Monday, at Lexington. He will be assigned to the receiving ship Franklin at Newport News. Harvey Johnson, Jr., was registered.

Mrs. W. M. Layson is much improved this week.

Dr. J. H. Carpenter has been very ill for the past week.

Mr. Denis Hanley sold his farm of 125 acres Thursday to Thos. Prather, of Mayslick, at $5 per acre.

Mrs. Wm. Kerr, of North Middleville, is the guest of Mrs. Zillie Miller.

Mr. Dr. Chas. Vimont and son, of Chicago, are guests of relatives here.

Dr. N. A. McKenney was in Paris, Thursday, on business.

How It Is Done.

The first object in life with the American is to "get rich;" the second, how to regain good health. The first can be obtained by energy, honesty and saving; the second, (good health) by using Green's Angust Flower. Should you be unable to afford the effects of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Appendicitis, Indigestion, etc., such as Sick Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Sour Stomach, Habitual Costiveness, Dizziness of the Head, Nervous Prostration, Low Spirits, etc., you need not suffer another day. Two doses of the well-known Angust Flower will cure you.

Mr. W. J. Patterson, night police at Nashville, Tenn., says: "In January I had a very bad cold on my lungs, and used to take a bottle of Foleys Honey Syrup every day. After taking it for a week, I found myself well again. Since then I have not suffered another day. Two doses of the well-known Angust Flower will cure you."

INDIAN SIGNALS.

The Long Distance Code by Which the Red Men Conversed.

The traveler on the plains in the early days soon learned the significance of the spires of smoke that he sometimes saw rising from a distant ridge or hill and that in turn he might see answered from a different direction. It was the signal talk of the Indians across miles of intervening ground, a signal used in rallying the warriors for an attack or warning them of a retreat when that seemed desirable.

The Indian had a system of sending up the smoke in rings or puffs, knowing that such a smoke column would at once be noticed and understood as a signal and not taken for the smoke of some campfire. He made the rings by covering the little fire with his blanket for a moment and then suddenly removing the blanket and allowing the smoke to ascend, when he instantly covered the fire again. The column of ascending smoke rings said to every Indian within 30 miles: "Look out. There is an enemy near." These smoke huts close together meant danger. One smoke merely meant attention. Two smoke means "Camp at this place." Travel the plains, and the usefulness of this long distance telephone will quickly become apparent.

Sometimes at night the settler or traveler saw fiery lines crossing the sky, shooting up and falling, perhaps taking a direction diagonal to the line of vision. He might guess that these were the signals of Indians, but unless he were an old timer he might not be able to interpret the signals. The old timer and the squaw man knew that one fire arrow (an arrow prepared by treating the head of the shaft with gunpowder and fine bark) meant the same as the column of smoke puffs—viz., "An enemy is near." Two arrows meant "Danger." Three arrows said imperatively, "This danger is great." Several arrows said, "The enemy are too many for us." Two arrows shot up into the air at once meant "We shall attack," three at once said, "We attack now." An arrow shot off in a diagonal direction said as plainly as pointing a finger, "That way." Thus the untutored savage could telephone fairly well at night as well as in day-time."

PUNCHED THE JEWELER:

He Wanted a Second Hand Watch and Finally Got It.

He was evidently a foreigner, and he walked into one of the big jewelry houses on F street and asked for a watch. He would be pleased to examine some "second hand watches," he said to the clerk who advanced to meet him.

"This isn't a pawnshop," observed the clerk haughtily.

"No?" observed the man inquisitively. "But you have watches?" And he pointed to the great showcase full of hand-some watches.

"Certainly," replied the clerk. "Finest stock of watches in the city. How much do you want to pay for a watch?" "How much?" asked the stranger. "Mooch as he is worth, so that he suits me. I have said that I desire a second hand watch—a good one that shall keep the time."

"See here, sir; you are off your base. We don't keep secondhand goods. You will have to hunt elsewhere for second-hand watches."

The stranger's eyes opened wide. "You have him there, and there and there," as he began to gesticulate. "I have said s-e-c-o-n-d-h-a-d-a-d-watches," spelling it as though to make it plainer, "and they are here, everywhere, yet you say you have them not? I do not comprehend you."

"Well, I do," replied the clerk sheepishly as he quickly got behind the counter. "Just a little mix up. No harm done, I hope. Certainly we have watches with second hands. All our watches have second hands. We handle no others." And the stranger got his second hand watch, for which he laid down a $50 bill.—Washington Star.

Speculation and Theft.
Some statistician, in emulation of Lombroso perhaps, has been figuring out the habitual employment of convicts. He concludes that more men and women whose employers are the national, state or municipal governments fall into evil ways and come to untoward ends than those who work for private individuals or corporations. A very large proportion of the men and women who have been handlers of public monies seem to yield to the constant temptation and begin to speculate, and some cynic avers that speculation is the corollary of speculation. As a matter of fact, most of the big and little thieves who confess how they were led to take money that did not belong to them declare that speculations of one sort or another brought them eventually behind the bars.—New York Herald.

By Way of Suggestion.
"The trouble with me," spoke the young man who was on his way home from the Kenthurst club, "is that I always feel embarrassed when I am out in company. I never know what to do with my hands."

"Suppose you just hold them up," said a hoarse voice in his ear.

The voice pertained to a large, rough looking man with a mask on his face and a large, rough looking revolver in his hand, and the youth lost no time in complying with the suggestion.—Chicago Tribune.

Bicycles are generally considered very modern inventions, but some of the Egyptian obelisks bear figures mounted on two wheeled vehicles resembling the old velocipedes.

Silk goods are said to take dyes more readily than any other fabric.

It is a specific for grippe and asthma, and has long been a well known remedy for whooping cough. W. T. Brooks.

SARAH AND THE "INDIANS."

New England Youngster.
Bernhardt Played Fedora For Them at 35 Cents a Head.

Sarah Bernhardt, the great French actress, once played in Sullivan, Ind., at 35 cents a head.

It was many years ago, and Bernhardt was making a tour of the country. On the way from Louisville to Indianapolis the train was stopped at Sullivan by the news that a serious freight wreck had occurred a few miles up the road completely blocking the tracks and making progress to Indianapolis impossible until the next day.

"Very well," said the manager in excellent French and with forced calmness. "Since we cannot leave town we will give a performance here."

"Impossible," said Mme. Bernhardt, also in French. "Quite impossible."

"Not a bit," said the manager, and went about it. The divine Bernhardt, being under contract to play a certain number of nights, was induced to consent. There was no "opera house" in Sullivan, but the Masonic Hall was rented, and some of the scenery was crowded into it. The local office got out a lot of handbills in a hurry, and messengers were dispatched to the adjoining towns to spread the glad news that Bernhardt, the diva Sarah, was to play in Sullivan that night and that admission would be 35 cents.

"We are trying to charge metropolitan prices," said the manager to the pressmen, and that gentleman sighed and said he supposed not.

In the early evening there began to come into town long lines of green farmer wagons, each holding a family party. When the house was full, the great Bernhardt cautiously took a peep at it from behind the flimsy curtain. "Mon Dieu!" she cried, raising her jeweled hands. "Look at the Indians!" But she played Fedora for them, and she played until 11 o'clock.—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

HE USED THE SALT TEST.

An Old Apache Chief's Knowledge of the Human System.

In the early days of Union Pacific railroading Victoria, Nana and Geronimo, the three chiefs of the Arizona Apaches, with 100 of their best bucks, came through to Green River, Wyo.

They had heard of the "heav wagon and no horse" and had come to stop the train. They made a lasso of rawhide, and 50 men on each side held on to the rope as the freight came down the Wasatch divide. The engineer saw when several miles away what the Indians were up to, so he whistled "off brakes" and, opening his throttle, let her loose. The cowcatcher struck the rope and hurled the Indians in all directions, literally tearing them to pieces, headless, armless and legless. The three chiefs went south to their cactus plains very crestfallen.

Before they selected these men the old chief Victoria had them all eat a piece of rock salt about as big as a peach, run swiftly about 100 yards, sit down on top of rock and cross their feet.

Then he watched the vibration of the feet, which were crooked. The feet which vibrated the longest or had the longest strokes he decided to accept for a severe duty or a dangerous trip or for one that was at all hazardous, but he accepted the feet which vibrated short, distinct and regular strokes.

Now, what did the old chief know about pulsation of the arterial system or of heart action and indeed about salt in the system? I have lived near to Indian reservations and have had occasion often to survey over their lands for railroads and other objects and I have wondered where old Victoria got his idea. Is not the child of the sagebrush plains better posted than his paleface brother?—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The clergyman looked blankly at the colors then turned to the fair lady.

"Will I leave it to you, madam?" he said. "What do you think it's worth?"

What did this young and blushing bride do? She reached out, took the coins, handed over half crown to the minister and put the other into her pocket.

"A thrifty wife," said the minister, with a sigh, "is her husband's crown."

Perhaps he ought to have said half crown.—London Tit-Bits.

A Love Letter of Prince Bismarck.

"On my window sill, among all sorts of crocuses and hyacinths, stand two camellias which always inspire me with strange thoughts. One of them, slender and pretty, with its ornamental crown (top) and soft, pale—very pale—pink blossoms, but little foliage and only two buds, transports me to Riedstein, holds itself rather stiffly and lisps English. The other makes less impression of beauty as you look at it, and its stalk betrays in its gnarled twisting lack of care in its parent.

From the midst of the foliage looks out a dead branch, but the crown is rich in leaves, and the foliage is greener than that of its neighbor. It gives promise of abundant blossoming in its eight buds, and its color is deep dark red and white in irregular gay variegation.

Do you take the comparison amiss? It is a lame comparison, moreover, for I do not love camellias, because they are without odor, and you love precisely on account of the fragrance of the flower of your spirit, which is white, dark red and black."

Luck and Luck.

Two clerks named Thomas and Clarence were in the employ of a wealthy merchant. Thomas was always an industrious lad, but Clarence was much given to frivolity and was extravagant in his habits. In after years Clarence married his employer's daughter, and was made a partner in the business.

Thomas continued to be an honest, industrious clerk all his life, and his services were much appreciated by Clarence and his father-in-law.

"I take my outing in one of those parts," he says, "where the farms are so run down that you can't hope for a good crop of anything unless it be beans or goats. One of the consequences is that the young men have to find some other part of the country in which to make a living, and I'll wager that there is not another community in the Union where the average age is higher.

"Knowing me to be a lawyer, some of the residents called me into a conference about the township treasurer who had been guilty of advancing a teacher $2 out of her salary without the consent of the trustees. There was not a man there except myself who was not past 82, and two were over 90.

"While I was making a talk in favor of the treasurer and trying to minimize his transgressions without offending the selected, as they called them, a man of at least 95 slouched through the door and sat.
